

Index Cards And Chalkboard App

Virtual Index Cards

Index Cards and Chalkboard is a simple, free app that is great for note taking and organizing. Students are given multiple tabs to work in, and within each tab they can add multiple index cards. Cards can be dragged around and organized, and tabs can be labeled. The app also gives you the option to switch to a chalkboard style screen, where students can sketch out ideas, concept maps, and more. The main downside to the app is that you can't create more than one 'booklet' of index cards. The cards can, however, be deleted when finished with so students can start a new project.

Classroom Connection

This is a great app to use when researching or plotting out a story. Students can use chalkboard section to plan out their story, and the index cards can be used for notes or parts of the story. This also makes a great review tool for tests and quizzes. Cards can have a front and a back, so it can also be used as flashcards to review vocabulary. Although there is no built in export, students can take a screenshot of their notecards to print or import into other apps.
