Make Beliefs Comix App

Create your own comic strips

Make Beliefs Comix is a fun, free app for creating comic strips. Students are given a default 3 panel blank strip, and can choose from a variety of characters, backgrounds, and props to create their story. They can also change the length of their strip to two or four panels. It's very easy to add and move items to the strip, and the app provides eight talk balloons and eight thought balloons, along with panel prompts such as "The Next Day..." Finished strips can be saved to the camera roll, or emailed. Unfortunately it looks like there is not a way to save a comic to come back to and edit later, so comics must be completed in a single sitting.

Classroom Connection

Looking for a way to encourage reluctant writers? This app may be your key. Have students use the app to tell their stories in both a visual and written format. Although the app maxes out at a 4 panel strip, students can create multiple strips and save them to the camera roll so they can export them to other apps or programs to assemble into a finished story.
