

NewsBug App

News For Young Readers

NewsBug is a daily news app designed for young readers. The app presents news about relevant issues and events around the world in a very visual format. Students can read articles on science, nature, current events, sports, art, and more. The articles are written with students in mind, and there are no push notifications, ads, or social media connections. External links are carefully controlled, providing a safe news source for kids.

Classroom Connection

NewsBug is a great app for all grade levels. Students can use it to learn about current events, demonstrate understanding of non-fictional text, and more. Have students take turns being the daily newscaster and summarizing an article they read in the app. Have students choose an article that interests them and conduct further research online and present a report on it.
